PH.D. DISSERTATION

“Positive Deviance: Sex, Drugs, and Belonging Between Men in the Philippines”

This project is an ethnography of the category of “men who have sex with men” (MSM). It problematizes modern biomedical and sexual citizenship within the overlapping contexts of the HIV/AIDS epidemic and the anti-drug war of the Philippines. Its focus is on PrEP Pilipinas, the first community-based peer-driven pilot delivery of HIV pre-exposure prophylaxis drugs in the world for MSM. It involves ethnographic fieldwork conducted from September 2017 to August 2018.
